

A Better Way to Find Child Care

A Free Search and Support Resource for California Families

MyChildCarePlan.org is a search and support website designed to help California's families find the child care they need. The site offers a customizable child care search tool and live support from local specialists to help parents to find the right child care for them. With MyChildCarePlan.org, parents can access reliable child care information they can trust.

Families, working parents and employers alike depend on the availability of safe and reliable child care.

With MyChildCarePlan.org, families can find child care they can trust. MyChildCarePlan.org provides the information and support families need to find care that meets their unique needs. Using the site's highly customizable child care search tool, searches can be filtered by:

- ➔ Location
- ➔ Availability
- ➔ Languages spoken
- ➔ Ability to accept subsidies
- ➔ Services offered, like special needs care and more
- ➔ Ages served
- ➔ And more!

Personalized Support Anywhere in California

MyChildCarePlan.org also offers live support from local child care counselors to help parents to find the information they need to make the best choice for their families.

We offer a child care information hotline and access to one-on-one assistance from local child care resource and referral counselors who can help answer families' questions and provide greater support in their journey to find the right child care option.

Child Care Resource and Referral Agencies (R&Rs), which have been operating across California for decades, can offer deep local knowledge, additional information about programs and expertise while they get to know each family and what they are looking for. There is at least one R&R in every county in the state. Based on their experiences and relationships with local providers, R&R counselors can help families find child care that meets their needs in their community.

MyChildCarePlan.org is Free to Use

While other sites place ads or charge fees to access child care provider availability and their contact information, all of the information and support services we offer are unbiased and completely free to both parents and child care providers.
